The General Assembly,

Recalling its resolutions 48/7 of 19 October 1993 and 49/215 A of 23 December 1995 on assistance in mine clearance, and recognizing with concern that the presence of mines and other unexploded devices on Central American territory has social, economic and humanitarian consequences that constitute an obstacle to the restoration of normal conditions for development throughout the region,

Recognizing the valuable and effective contribution made by the United Nations, and by the various governmental and non-governmental mechanisms, towards enabling the Central American peoples fully to achieve their objectives of peace, freedom, democracy and development, and the importance of the political dialogue and economic cooperation taking place within the Ministerial Conference between the European Union and the Central American countries and the joint initiative of the industrialized countries of the Group of 24 and the countries of the Group of Three as cooperating countries, through the Association for Democracy and Development in Central America and other institutions,

Recognizing also that, notwithstanding the progress made, it is necessary to continue monitoring the situation in Central America until the underlying structural causes that gave rise to the deep crisis into which the region was plunged have been overcome, and to avoid setbacks in the process and consolidate a firm and lasting peace in Central America,

Recognizing further the importance and validity of the commitments assumed by the Central American presidents from the Esquipulas II summit meeting on 7 August 1987 2/ to the present, in particular at the summit meeting held at Guácimo, Costa Rica, from 18 to 20 August 1994, 3/ the Central American
